DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the information disclosure statement filed 02/05/2004 and 04/26/2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 recites the limitation "said openings" in claim 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 1 appears to refer to one opening only, and does not suggest that more are possible. Therefore, the reference in claim 3 to "said openings" in claim 1 lacks antecedent basis.

It appears that applicant is suggesting a further embodiment. Therefore, it is suggested that this claim be written in independent form in order to correct the improper antecedent basis.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1615

The claim is indefinite in that it is the disposition of the "body" within the claimed device is not particularly pointed out. Claim 1 does not set out a further body, so that it does not set out the relation of this body to the rest of the device. Clarification is requested.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-3 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1-3 of copending Application No. 10/706,105 (US'105).

This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that copending application since the referenced copending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: US'105 sets out an ophthalmic drug delivery device having a first and second end, an injection port, as well as a “generally ring-shaped three dimensional geometry” for implantation on the outer surface of the sclera (see claim 1). The exterior (posterior) end comprises a sharp surface for piercing the outer surface of the sclera (see claim 3). If one end has to pierce the sclera, the other end would need to have an orbital surface. The terminal end of the fluid passageway (fluidly coupled) has openings for communicating with the outer surface of the sclera. Those of ordinary skill would have therefore expected similar therapeutic results from the use of the instantly claimed drug delivery device given the claims of US’105. There are no unusual and/or unexpected results which would rebut prima facie obviousness. The instant ophthalmic drug delivery device would have been obvious given the claims of US’105.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other copending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

WO 02/100318 is cited as a patent of interest in its disclosure of a very similar ophthalmic drug delivery vehicle comprising a scleral surface, injection port, and a fluid passageway. However, it is noted that neither the publication date, nor the priority date of the parent document meet the instant priority date.

Claims 4, 12 and 13 are objected to as dependent upon a rejected base claim.

Claims 5-10 are in condition for allowance.
